A recent article (with a video included) on the BBC website highlights data visualization, including some of the work coming out of
UCL CASA
. You can view the article and video on the BBC News site
.